LANDON MORGAN

SOFTWARE DEVELOPER

CAREER SUMMARY

My professional background is primarily in video production, live television, and entertainment. I've worked for record labels, production companies, and a media conglomerate (AOL). I approach problems from a technical perspective, to break the larger problems into smaller ones. Working as a team player, I strive to execute the most efficient and effective solutions available.

I proactively sought code-centered side hustles (hobbies) over the years, including nashvillePA.com (2007-2015) to staff production assistants in Nashville, TN, and holyvintage.com (2010-2013), a site that managed an inventory of vintage t-shirts through hard-coded HTML. <--yikes!

In 2019 I became a full-time Software Developer. A comprehensive look at previous employment can be found on my resume, available on my website, below.
